From the ruins of ancient Rome there has arisen a power, and a tyranny more dreadful, than the first. It has extended its conquests to regions, where the Roman eagle never flew, and finally, to borrow the language of a celebrated writer, it has produced a monster vast and tremendous, in a far more terrific guise, than ever before overpowered the imagination, or subdued the fortitude of man. If it be possible in contemplating this subject, that any circumstances can excite additional amazement, it is this; that this terrible empire laid its foundation on the purest system of religion and morality, ever known, or uttered to mankind. Why the Deity should permit the Gospel, the Sun in the intellectual and moral universe, to be eclipsed for ages; why he suffered that legacy of faith and mercy and salvation to be contaminated and defaced, and eventually converted into an empire of despotism more false,...
