Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.Excerpt from Oration: Delivered Before the Addison County Anti-Slavery Society, on the Fourth of July, 1836 We have met, fellow citizens, on a day consecrated in the hearts of us all by patriotic and blessed recollections. It is the natal day of our country's independence. Hallowed as it is by the toils and blood of our fathers, it should be held sacred to human liberty and human rights. Though we conic not together with banner and trumpet, with parade and ceremony, yet we feel that is good to hail its annual return with tokens of joy and thanksgiving. We would not forget the countless blessings and priceless benefits which have been conferred upon us by our heroic sires, but would rather, under the inspiration of the memories which the occasion brings with it, recount their daring achievements, their sacrifices, their sufferings, their toils, their privations, their patient endurance, their self-sacrificing devotion, their trials and their triumphs, that we might enjoy the rich inheritance which they thus purchased for us. It is good for us to drink in the spirit which animated (heir bosoms - to catch the fervor of their devotion to the rights of man - to break the sluggishness of our own patriotism by estimating the price they paid for the privileges amid which our lot is cast - and to enkindle within our own bosoms those lofty emotions which carried them through want, defeat, despondency and disaster to the proudest triumph in the annals of the world. That soul must, indeed, be dead, that, on this day, with the voice of the past whispering in his ear the deeds of his revolutionary fathers...
