Dept. of Justice, Office of Justice Programs, Office of juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, 2000 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)54536304 Subject: Juvenile delinquents -- Rehabilitation -- United States. Excerpt: . . . Individual counseling sessions are used to discuss progress in the program, personal problems, feelings, goals, and other areas of need. Psychological counseling is provided by licensed psychologists to meet the psychological needs of the youth. Intensive supervision (i. e. , direct supervision or intensive services provided by staff) ensures accountability to the treatment schedule and structure. Study skills improve individual academic performance. School and jobsite visits monitor youth compliance with authority while in school and at work. Group-based services Social interaction develops social skills by encouraging the youth to participate in a group setting where they learn to interact with each other and to adhere to the program structure. Group counseling builds leadership and decisionmaking, interpersonal adjustment, team-functioning, and coping skills. Life and job skills training enhances independence and the performance of daily activities. Games, crafts, art, and music activities teach the youth how to interact socially within an accepted set of norms and behaviors. Physical activity training teaches the youth about constructive competition, sportsmanship, individual achievement, sharing, taking turns, group cohesiveness, and following rules. Outdoor camping experience provides opportunities to win awards, mix with youth from other centers, and build cultural awareness. Field trips expose offenders to community resources in an effort to stimulate cultural development. Family-based services Home visits take clinical operations into the field (at least once a week) to offer a more indepth analysis of the youth in a personal environment. Family counseling is designed to enhance communicat.
